DAVIS ENDS POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Last Political Address to Be Broadcasted Tonight

17 STATES COVERED

230 Speeches Delivered in 12,000 Mile Campaign

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — The long trail blazed by John W. Davis since he began his campaign for the presidency, reached its end today. Only a motor trip from his home in Locust Valley to a New York studio where his last political address will be broadcast by radio to night remained to bring his campaign mileage to its grand total.

All engagements were cancelled to permit him to work unmolested at home on his address.

The plans arranged for the broadcasting tonight call for his arrival at WEA studio at nine o'clock, the beginning of his address at 9.15, eastern standard time and its conclusion at 9.45. His campaign started with the speech of acceptance at Clarkburg, W. Va., August 9, and continued almost without a halt. Travel by railroad covered 17 states and aggregated more than 12,000 miles.

In all he delivered 230 speeches not including the rear platform talks.

The territory canvassed stretched from the Atlantic to the Rocky mountains on the west and from Rhode Island to Tennessee and Kentucky in the south.

WOUNDED TWICE
He was "wounded" twice during the fight. On his visit to Wheeling a giant from the mountains grasped his hand in such a manner as to wrench a tendon later at Buncie, Mo., the tendon was wrenched again, and his arm had to be bandaged causing him for some time to use his left hand while the right convalesced. In St. Louis gases from burning powder used by photographers resulted in a slight impairment of his vocal chords. Davis, however, will emerge from the campaign in better physical condition than he enjoyed before it began.

Dr. J. Richardson of Washington, D. C., who attended him through the travels said he found Davis an improved man physically when he examined him the other day. His muscles have hardened and his endurance powers have been greatly increased. Dr. Richardson said, admitting however, that the candidate now weighed several pounds less than he did at the start.

From the standpoint of training received in ways of political campaigning Davis also is said by those who have been with him to have improved. His manner of speaking has become more forceful. The hesitancy and delicacy which marked him as a speaker at the beginning of the campaign have given way to qualities appertaining to that of the veteran political campaigner. He has acquired a "bounce" and a forcefulness in speech which apparently is well liked by his audience.

His style, however, is still that of a lawyer and his argument is the kind which appeals rather to reason than to emotion.

Where They Are To Get The News

How the candidates will spend election night.
President Coolidge will remain at the White House to receive reports in his library over a special radio wire and by radio.
John W. Davis will be at the Belmont hotel where a special election returns will be supplemented by radio, will keep him informed on returns.
Senator Robert M. LaFollette will cast his vote in Madison, Wis. He returned to his farm home Sunday and will remain in Madison to receive election returns Tuesday night.
Governor Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice presidential candidate, plans to receive reports of the election at the Governor's mansion in Lincoln, Nebraska, tomorrow night. "But I'm going to bed as soon as we know the trend of the votes," he said.
General Charles G. Dawes will cast his ballot in Evanston, Ill. He will receive the election returns tomorrow and tomorrow night at his own home in Evanston.

BIG CAMPAIGN NOW IN FINAL HOUR OF SWIRL

Davis and Coolidge Will Speak to Entire Nation Tonight Over Radio—Running Mates Continue Their Drive for Votes

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The campaign of 1924 is passing thru its final hours in a swirl of activity destined to make political history.

For the first time two presidential candidates, President Coolidge and John W. Davis, are preparing to address an election eve message to the same audience—a radio audience that will extend the country over.

Two candidates for the vice presidency likewise are upsetting precedent by continuing thru pre-election Monday their speaking campaigns.

BRYAN IN HOME STATE
Governor Bryan is completing a swing thru his home state of Nebraska and Senator Wheeler is winding up his coast to coast speech-making tour in Baltimore.

Senator LaFollette, having laid his case finally before the people in a Saturday night address at Cleveland, has returned to his home in Madison, and Charles G. Dawes is awaiting in Evanston the verdict of tomorrow's balloting.

Managers for all three of the presidential tickets after making the usual pre-election claim to victory, devoted much of today to perfecting machinery to get out the vote.

A fair weather forecast for most of the country fitted in with these preparations and appeared to presage a record vote.

Besides making a decision among the three presidential candidates, the voters will choose tomorrow the complete membership of a new house of representatives, thirty-four United States senators, thirty-four governors of states and a host of local officials.

LINES WIPED OUT
In several states the local campaign has seen an almost complete obliteration of party lines. The LaFollette movement, seeking strength from both the old party and helping Democrats in some localities and Republicans in others has turned topsy turvy the established order in more than one political community in the west. In other localities the Ku Klux Klan issue has operated with equal force to tear down party alignments and cloud the outcome with uncertainty.

The Republican claim to national victory is based on an assumption that Coolidge and Dawes will sweep both the east and the west and cut into the borderland of the solid south.

The Democrats declare Davis and Bryan will take the border states as well as the south, and will nose out a victory by a combination of different states in the east and west.

The major strength of LaFollette and Wheeler is conceded to be in the northwest with Wisconsin as its cornerstone.

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Ohio, a turbulent political battleground for the last two months, was quiet today in pre-election day truce. "Candidates who have been hurling charges, both verbal and written, at each other, were at their homes, waiting for the voters' verdict tomorrow."

The state campaign which virtually ended Saturday, was admittedly one of the hardest fought in years. It was marked by a bitter struggle for the governorship between Harry L. Davis, Republican, and supporters of Governor Vic Donahey. That, and the fact that the drama was enacted in a presidential year, kept interest sustained throughout the hectic days of campaigning when charges and counter charges flew thick and fast.

The presence of the LaFollette candidacy on a third party ticket, an increasing number of women candidates, and the probable effect the Ku Klux Klan will have in the voting are other items that

General Hough Leads Investigation in Klan Trouble

NEW DISTURBANCE FEARED

Troops Remain on Duty—Martial Law Prevails

(BULLETIN) — (By United Press) — Major General Benson, Hough, temporary military ruler of Niles, today asked Harvey A. Burgess, Trumbull-co prosecutor, to call a special grand jury to probe the Klan riot of last Saturday in which eleven persons were wounded.

Responsibility of city officials in the outbreak of mob violence will be ascertained, it was said.

NILES — (By United Press) — The intelligence corps of the national guard troops here today began cooperating with the local authorities in an investigation of the riot between the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of the Flaming Circle, Anti-Klan organization.

Major Gen. Benson W. Hough, military ruler of the town during the temporary period of qualified martial law, indicated no efforts would be spared to bring to justice the leaders of the war which resulted in 11 casualties.

After questioning more than a score of prisoners held in the jail here and at Warren, General Hough indicated that the chiefs of the factions were not among them.

Beneath the surface of quiet that prevailed since the arrival of troops Saturday, a serious undercurrent of hatred between the factions still exists and General Hough is of the opinion that disorder is likely to flare up anew unless the leaders are punished.

The Anti-Klan faction is bitter against Mayor Harvey C. Kistler, whom they openly accuse of being aligned with the hooded order. As long as he is "running the town" there is bound to be trouble, they say.

HATED SMOULDERING
Trouble has been brewing ever since the Knights of the Flaming Circle organized about a year ago in opposition to the Klan, according to Sheriff John E. Thomas.

Hatred between the two organizations was fed by "petty" arguments and grew to open hostility. For the last three months according to Thomas, members of both factions have been carrying guns.

The scheduled parade of the Klan last Saturday was the spark that caused the first organized clash.

With the city still under martial law, the citizenry of Niles today took inventory of the damage

YOUNGSTOWN — (By United Press) — The Ku Klux Klan will hold another demonstration in Niles within the next few weeks, Fred Warnock, district titan of the Klan declared today.

"The Klan is more determined than ever to meet and parade in Niles," Warnock said.

"We are determined to make an issue of this," wrought when rioting broke out as the result of antagonism between the plan and the Knights of the Flaming Circle here Saturday.

These are developments since the declaration of martial law. Request of Adit Gen. Frank D. Henderson that the county call a special grand jury to investigate riot and punish rioters.

Arrest of 25 men by military authorities, some of whom will be questioned on Saturday's events.

Promises of county and city authorities to aid military officials rounding up guilty persons.

Possibility of city and county officials being called before Governor Donahey to explain circumstances leading up to disorders.

TEY ARE INJURED
Ten persons are known to have been shot or beaten during the rioting which occurred while anti-Klanmen were awaiting the scheduled moving of a Klan parade from the latter's field, two miles north of the city.

Names of suspects in the disorders are being furnished military authorities.

Adit Gen. Henderson arrived in Niles Saturday at midnight and immediately taken up by a crowd of 400 spectators. Fearing a riot, constable William Roy arrested Roddy who tried to break away and was shot in the back by the constable.

Roy was held to await the action of the coroner.

DEMOCRATS PAY FOR PATRIOTIC SPEECH FOR WHICH PRESIDENT COOLIDGE RECEIVED SUM OF $250

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (By United Press) — A check for $250 was being forwarded by the Democratic state executive committee today to the United patriotic societies of Bridgeport, Conn., to reimburse the society for the fee paid President Coolidge for a patriotic address he delivered at Bridgeport.

In a telegram sent by the committee last night, it was declared that Tennesseans had participated in such numbers in all the great battles of American history "from King's mountain to Flinders" that the state had become known as the "volunteer state."

"Such a procedure," the state ment concluded, referring to payment of the fee by the society, "is revolting to the patriotic sensibilities of all Tennesseans, regardless of parties."

10 KILLED, MANY HURT IN CRASH

Five Investigations Are Started to Fix Blame

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Five investigations today sought to establish responsibility for the killing of ten persons and injuring of thirty others early yesterday when a string of Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul freight cars smashed into a street car.

Oscar Wolf, coroner, said his investigation had disclosed that the crossing gates were not down when the street car approached and he accused the towerman, John Brabe, of having been drinking moonshine whiskey.

Brabe contended, as did the street car conductor, that he had not seen the approaching freight cars, the engine being at the other end of the string, a quarter of a mile away.

About sixty passengers were on the street car, mostly young people returning from Halloween celebrations.

Among the dead was Dr. M. N. Schenkin, of Palestine, a world leader in the Zion movement. The chief rabbi of Palestine, Abraham Cook, now in New York, probably will accompany the body home.

FOOTBALL OFFICIAL IS

CHARLOTTE, Pa. — Thomas Roddy, 19, died in the Charlotte hospital today from a bullet wound in the back received while officiating as headlinesman in a football game at Elco, Sunday.

Roddy made a decision which was disputed by the players and immediately taken up by a crowd of 400 spectators. Fearing a riot, constable William Roy arrested Roddy who tried to break away and was shot in the back by the constable.

Roy was held to await the action of the coroner.

Walker Tharp Dies Instantly East of Sidney

VANE SULLIVAN HURT

Skull May Be Fractured, Physicians Say

Examination by physicians Monday disclosed that Sullivan's skull is not fractured and he will probably recover.

One person was instantly killed and another probably fatally injured Sunday night when an automobile in which they were riding went into a ditch, one-half mile east of Sidney.

Walker Tharp, 27, of 516 Fairview, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tharp, is dead, and Vane Sullivan, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hoffman, 733 W. Wayne st., is at his home suffering from severe cuts and bruises and a probable fractured skull.

The two young men left Lima early Sunday evening in Sullivan's car to attend a dance at Meyer's Dance Pavilion, east of Sidney. They stopped in Sidney and then went out to the park. While returning to Sidney about 8:30 p. m. Sullivan is said to have been blinded by bright lights on a car following him and failed to see a sharp curve in the road. The car plunged down the steep embankment, falling over several times. The accident occurred on the Murphy Pike, one-half mile east of Sidney.

CRASH CRASHES
Tharp was pinned under the frame of the windshield. His chest was crushed and his jugular vein and windpipe severed, causing almost instantaneous death. Sullivan was thrown thru the windshield and received several deep scalp wounds, injuries to both eyes and cuts and bruises about the body. He was unconscious for several hours following the accident and is feared he may be suffering from a fractured skull.

He was removed to the office of Dr. H. M. Huesey, in Sidney and later accompanied to his home. It was not until Monday morning that Sullivan was able to inform relatives that his condition had been fatal.

Tharp's body was removed to his home Monday morning from Sam's Undertaking parlors in Sidney where it was taken following the accident. In addition to his parents he is survived by one brother, Fred Tharp.

Both young men are premin in this city. Sullivan is employed as a salesman for the L. E. Merritt Co. and Tharp has been working in Johnstown, Pa., for the last two years. He was here on a several week's visit with his mother.

MRS. HARDING IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Condition Regarded as Critical—Now at Marion

MARION, Ohio — (By Associated Press) — Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of the late President, is reported today to be in a critical condition at the home here of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer. She is suffering with kidney trouble.

Mrs. Harding has been ill for several weeks and has fallen considerably since the recent death of Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, who was her personal physician and who was personal physician to President Harding when he occupied the White House.

It became known today that yesterday Dr. James C. Wood of Cleveland was called to Marion for consultation. Mrs. Harding is making her home at White Oaks Farm, the home of the late General Sawyer.

Dr. Carl W. Sawyer today issued this bulletin:

"Mrs. Harding's condition remains practically the same as last week. She has developed a number of symptoms that were present in her serious attack in 1921 in the White House. Other complications have arisen which were not present at that time and her condition now is rather serious."

Friends of Mrs. Harding say she has suffered with kidney trouble for years, but they attribute her present illness to the shock caused by General Sawyer's recent death following so closely the death of her husband.

HARRISON STILL FIGHTS
COLUMBUS — Dwight Harrison, former official of the H. L. Hollings Co., under conviction for making misrepresentations to investors concerning the financial condition of concerns it was promoting, today filed a petition in error in the state supreme court, seeking to have conviction reversed. Recently the supreme court refused to grant a motion to review the case.

State and Federal Officials Take Hand in Battle

LOS ANGELES — (By Associated Press) — State and federal health authorities today were moving to the aid of Los Angeles in its fight to block the spread of pneumonic plague which at last reports had claimed 21 victims in the city's foreign quarter. Ten cases under treatment at the general hospital were said to be critical.

Dr. W. H. Kellogg, state health department expert, surveyed the situation yesterday and announced that although there was no doubt about the nature of the malady or its seriousness, the prospects for bringing it under control were good.

Of the seven who died yesterday two were men who had died in the performance of duty. One, Faher Bruall, a priest at the historic Old Plaza church, went about the infected quarter administering Extreme Unction to the dying. The other, Emmett McLaughlin, was an ambulance driver.

Squads of policemen guarded the Mexican quarter day and night. Food and other necessities are sent thru the cordon under strict supervision.

The mortality rate of the disease which is allied to the bubonic plague, approaches 100 per cent.

Ground squirrels probably brought the disease to Los Angeles and communicated it to rats which in turn probably transmitted it to the first human victim thru the intermediary agency of a flea, Dr. Kellogg said in discussing the history of the plague in the United States.

WELTY CASE REVERSED IN APPEALS COURT

ATTORNEY GETS NEW TRIAL

Action Will Be Nulled, Friends Here Believe

ERROR CHARGES UPHELD

Official Draft of Decision Eagerly Awaited

The former congressman, who was cleared of all charges in a decision handed down Monday by the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati.

This reverses the verdict handed down in federal court at Toledo and abrogates a sentence of one year in the Dayton workhouse and a fine of $500. Judge Paul Jones was the federal judge on the bench at the time of the trial. Welty is granted a new trial.

While the official decision has not been received here it is understood that the chief phase covered by the appeals judges is the fact that the district court erred in stating in its charge to the jury that the father could not spend more than $2 on his son who had a claim against the veterans' bureau.

Franklin Strayer was drafted into the army during the world war and a few days later discharged because he had lost his mind. The young man was returned to his home at Dayton.

The government made no provisions for the care of the former soldier and the father was compelled to pay the cost of treatment at various private institutions until the young man was placed in the state hospital at Toledo.

The father desired to obtain from the government compensation for the expense of this treatment and consulted various veterans' agencies and attorneys. When it seemed that a special bill would have to be put through Congress to get the compensation Welty was called into the case.

He agreed to help the father get his money, but on special conditions, otherwise, under the conditions that he would get his expenses paid to Washington on the first trip and then on other trips that might be necessary would be paid from one-third of any money obtained.

Through Welty's activities the veterans' bureau allowed a lump sum of $2,748.52 and a payment of $300 a month to be turned over to Strayer, who was appointed guardian of the young man.

Strayer was appointed guardian of the young man, Lawrence Strayer, who was appointed guardian of the young man, and the payment made. Thus, it was contended before the court, the full amount of the government compensation was turned over to the guardian of the veteran without any violation of the law providing that no more than $2 be paid as compensation for the prosecution of cases before the veterans' bureau.

It was then necessary, for the father, William Strayer, to obtain compensation for his payments thru a suit against the government. This suit was carried thru and the father was awarded $2,462.42 by the court. Later Welty received a check for $1,264.64, for expenses and fees as provided in the contract.

The point in contention seemed to be whether Welty was acting for the son or the father and the court instructed the jury at Toledo that both were the same and that either would violate the law.

Under the present decision the case will be turned back to federal court at Toledo and it is believed it will be tried at once, thus clearing Welty of any intent to violate the law or any actual violation. Should a new trial be ordered, Welty is confident that the verdict will be favorable to him.

NILES FIRST TOWN THAT PRESS AGENTED RIOTS MANY DAYS IN ADVANCE

NILES, Ohio. (By United Press)—Niles, which never enjoyed much fame beyond being the birthplace of President McKinley, now has the distinction of being the scene of the first pre-advertised riot of its kind in history.

Newspapermen, photographers and movie cameramen were on the job waiting for trouble to start. Old and experienced reporters quivered at Niles ten days before the outbreak, believed trouble would be averted before Saturday.

"Never happens," one said. "It's never happened, they are never pre-announced like this. Never observed in advance."

But the riots came nearly as promised, and for once the precautions of the newspapers, against being "scooped" on a big story were not taken in vain.

Funeral services for William Meeks, 73, who died Sunday at the Allen home from cerebral hemorrhage, will be held at the Eckert funeral home, Tuesday at 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Townsend, pastor of Central Church of Christ, will officiate. Interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

WOMAN INJURED DELPHOS—Mrs. Dewey Steiner, wife of a local official, suffered a badly bruised ankle Sunday when she was knocked to the ground by a St. Mary's player during the football game here Sunday afternoon.

WHAT WELL DRESSED MINE RESCUE MEN WEAR

These are a few of the prevailing styles for mine rescue teams. The man at the extreme left is sporting a "self rescuer," a container holding enough oxygen for 30 minutes. The gentleman in the center is exhibiting a modern safety light. The fellow who is standing second from the right carries the canisters which the rescuers always take along to warn them of deadly gases. The man at the extreme right is packing an oxygen tank and also an instrument that helps reveal gas dangers.

MILITARY PROBE AT NILES

conference with Mayor Harvey C. Kistler, County Prosecutor Harvey Burgess and Sheriff John E. Thomas and mapped out a plan for investigating the disturbance.

All persons who may be able to give information valuable in hunting down guilty persons are to be called. Informal examination of witnesses will probably begin today, Henderson said.

Henderson admitted the difficulty of obtaining evidence against persons responsible for creating the trouble.

Peace and quiet have prevailed in Niles since the establishing of martial law.

Ministers take lead. Ministers from the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches yesterday pleaded for peace, asking the congregation to lay aside the thoughts of religious hatred and join in tolerance for the fellowships.

It was reported Sunday that a guardman had been attacked and was in a serious condition.

The report is believed to have arisen from an attack made, according to military authorities, on Owen Scully, 63, who was beaten by three men and taken to Warren hospital, where he is suffering from a fractured rib.

Another was allowed to pass thru Niles Sunday, after traffic had been halted and diverted around the city Saturday.

Major Kistler said he would have a statement today.

He is known to have been absent from his home Friday evening and until after the disorders Saturday. He did not spend Saturday night at his home, although he was in the city for a conference with military authorities Sunday morning.

His home, along with those of other Niles officials, is being guarded by detachments of militiamen.

500 ON DUTY. Fifty hundred guardmen are in the city today, following the riot yesterday that approximately 700 he withdrawn.

The troops are quartered at the American Tire corporation, the Masonic temple and the K. of P. temple. The latter two places are in the central part of the city.

Qualified and not absolute martial law exists here.

The civil courts still function, Henderson explained, but they are under the direction of military authorities. Under absolute military rule, the court martial is used.

No time has been set for the abolishment of military rule. It being understood that the military authorities will remain as long as there is danger of further outbreaks and as long as their services are needed in bringing guilty persons to justice.

Ticket Agent Defies Armed, Bold Burglar

DELPHOS—A heavily loaded holdup man armed with a revolver was outwitted Sunday night by Gilbert Kramer, ticket agent at the Pennsylvania railway office, who saved the company's money and nearly caused the arrest of the thief.

The holdup man after gaining entrance thru a rear window, ordered the ticket agent to "throw up his hands." Gilbert disregarded the demand, dashed thru a open doorway and called police, who rushed to the office and prevented the looting of the cash till, but were unable to trap the thief.

His party, Clarence J. Neal, Republican state executive chairman, asserts, will "sweep Ohio Tuesday by one of the largest votes on record."

Neal's predictions are that President Coolidge will carry the state from 250,000 to 550,000 and that "former Governor Harry L. Davis and the entire Republican state ticket, without exception, will poll a vote that will nearly equal that of the president."

LaFollette headquarters, which are in Cleveland, so far have not made any claim for their candidate, who would up his campaign there with an address Saturday night.

"That the vote this year will be a huge one, larger than that of four years ago, is conceded. This is due to a number of reasons, but principally to active and concerted efforts of neutral organizations over the state to 'get the vote out' using the national slogan 'Vote as you please—but vote.'"

Two million vote. Four years ago, with women voting for the first time on a national ticket, Harding received 1,820,022 votes to 750,027 for Cox, and there were 2,021,000 votes cast for president.

Davis, who defeated Denahy at that time, received 1,039,821 votes, ending the present chief executive's defeat by a plurality of 120,000.

Whether or not women will vote in greater or fewer numbers this year is a moot question. The League of Ohio Women Voters and similar organizations, many of which did not exist in 1920, have been working hard to bring the women vote out, but how successful their efforts will be is a matter only of conjecture.

This election, as far as the women are concerned, has been notable for the number seeking office. On the Republican ticket alone there are 34 women candidates who are seeking various offices from county recorder to state senator.

In Madison, there is a woman candidate—Mrs. J. E. Strayer—whom the voters have been calling "Ma Ferguson of Ohio." She is seeking to be elected probate judge of an independent ticket, and like the Texas Ma Ferguson is out to advance a defeat handed her husband.

HUSBAND DEFEATED. Judge Strayer was defeated for re-nomination at the August primaries by J. E. Welsh, London attorney. This would have been Strayer's second term and it is not customary to defeat a candidate for his second term if he has been "re-elected." Strayer's friends, however, are not so sure.

Years ago, however, he cast his ballot for a woman to state ticket as well as for presidential electors and congressmen. Locally they will elect county officials and pass bond issues and extra tax levies.

FORD ROADSTER STOLEN; AUTO BATTERY MISSING. Mrs. Lawrence of Toledo, entered police and Sunday night in search for her Ford roadster, which she says was stolen from the rear of the Star Tire Co. Public Square, Sunday evening.

Mrs. C. Converse and Holmes, reported a garage battery stolen from her automobile some time Sunday.

MAN RECOVERING. DELPHOS—A man, whose body was found Sunday night in the fire engine house, was recovered Sunday morning between the casing and the track while responding to a call. He is recovering from his injuries, which are not serious. He sustained a fractured rib and an injured shoulder.

CAMPAIGN DRAW TO CLOSE

will mark the 1924 election in this state as a memorable one.

Both major party executives are claiming victory for their candidates by big pluralities, but T. E. Dye, Democratic state executive chairman, qualifies his claims for a victory in Ohio for John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, by saying Davis "has an even chance to carry Ohio, if we can get the Democratic vote out."

Governor Denahy, the state chairman asserts, will "triumphantly" carry the state.

His party, Clarence J. Neal, Republican state executive chairman, asserts, will "sweep Ohio Tuesday by one of the largest votes on record."

NEW YORK—(Special)—"The childlike westerner—hmm—"

Lois Roach peeps out from under her 10-gallon hat, her mouth curved in a big, generous smile. Then she laughs heartily.

"Say, there isn't a range that a cowboy can't ride. You can stick up sykkers and dig subways, but turn a cowboy loose and he'll know it as well as he knows a pathless plain."

"But take a dude—you know, that's what we call the colts from the east, and turn him loose in the badlands. Then see who's the childlike babe-in-the-woods! Put a dude on a street car or a filly-er and he's all right, but corner him in the cow country and what happens?"

"There's no place under the sun you need be 'feared to send a cowboy. We've had 'em in London and Paris, and they gave the boys over there something to remember for a long time."

GIRLS LIKE STEERS

Lois Roach, it might be explained, is known as the most beautiful of cowgirls and she's riding with Tex Austin's Rodeo, just back from the Wembley Fair, England.

What does she think of the feminine products of make-up, and pseudo-sophistication?

"Listen—girls are like steers: they wear the brand of the outfit they belong to. If they've got to be identified by the lipstick and the headed-eye brand, they're going to have it. Society happens to own the ranch and old man had is heading the round-up. They get caught in the herd and away they go."

"Myself—I never found anything the matter with sunshine. But how are you going to get acquainted with fresh air and sun? You've got to be a 30-story sky-toucher. I don't blame the girls. It just happens they're riding for a bum outfit!"

ROTARIANS HEAR MORTON

"Better Business" Basis of Luncheon Club Talk

"Better business doesn't mean more business," James E. Morton, manager of the Lima board of commerce, told members of the Lima Rotary club Monday night at the Normal hotel in his talk.

Morton told the club of the work of the board of commerce and its subsidiary organization, the Better Business Bureau. He preached the gospel of truth in advertising and in merchandising, one of the things for which the bureau stands.

The commerce board manager rapped the fraudulent salesman and the "fly-by-night" swindler who sells fake stock to the work- ing man, gets his life savings, and then leaves town before his operations are discovered by the law.

Application for a writ of habeas corpus filed by Mrs. Ida Lehman to obtain custody of her children from Clarence Roby, her former husband, was denied Monday by Judge Fred C. Becker. The court decided that the children were juvenile court wards and that he could not make a ruling affecting them.

GEORGIANS DEFEY SOVIET RULE

Tiflis Scintillates Nightly With Social Gaiety

RICH DRESS IS FOUND

Food Plentiful; Prices Are Low in Markets

TIFLIS, Russia. — (By Associated Press) — In the commercial stagnation and social gloom which exist in Bolshevik Russia, Tiflis stands out like a scintillating gem in a background of lifeless stones. Bolshevism here has not had the leveling influence it has had in other parts of Soviet Russia. There are still an aristocracy and a bourgeoisie, even if they are not very self-assertive. The Georgians are a proud, independent race and have not entirely accepted the principles which Moscow offered them.

In strong contrast to conditions obtaining in Moscow and other large Russian cities, the people of Tiflis are well-dressed and prosperous looking. They have none of that oppressed, haunted, dispirited expression which one finds on the faces of so many Russians. The women wear rich silks and satins and display diamonds and other evidences of wealth. The men are attired in smart-cut suits instead of the conventional Bolshevik blouse and knickerbockers. The children seem happier than in any other section of the Soviet Union.

The restaurants, cafes and amusement parks are going full blast, and are crowded nightly with attractively gowned women with their escorts. Prohibition has no field for development among the gay and pleasure-loving Georgians, who would soon discard their swords and daggers to forsake their wines and champagne.

THE CENTER — The Bolsheviks have not attempted in Georgia, as in other sections of Russia, to kill private trading. There are any number of excellent retail stores in Tiflis offering ample and varied stocks. Food is plentiful and considerably lower in price than at Moscow. Clothing, however, is costly. The most costly commodity is wine, which sells for as little as 25 cents a quart. It is sold in sheepskins and bullaustins, with the hair inside, which is said to improve the taste of the beverage.

The hundreds of Persian, Armenian and Tartar bazaars which give Tiflis such a lively touch of color and animation are all prospering. They display a very variety of oriental novelties, ranging from the famous Daghestan swords and daggers to costly Bokhara rugs, delicately wrought objects of silver and ivory, and all kinds of leather novelties. The city has little commercial importance for American business men, for they soon learn that all negotiations for the sale of merchandise or for oil and manganese concessions must be conducted through the central government at Moscow. But Tiflis is important politically, for not only is it the capital of Georgia, but it is the main political seat of all three Transcaucasian states, Armenia, Azerbaijan and Georgia.

HAPPY ISLANDERS FIND NO REASON TO COMPLAIN IN YEAR'S FISH CATCHES

LONDON — Hayling Island is about the only place in England where there is no unemployment. The island, in the Southampton area, has a prosperous population of about 3,000 and at present no one there is receiving a penny from the national unemployment fund. The men and women of the island are all busy in the fields, in the fishing grounds and the shops.

The harvest season, which is now over, has been the best in years and the harvest, unlike the rest of England, is bountiful. There are plenty of visitors to the island and the inhabitants are in the state of financial exuberance. The islanders also differ from mainland compatriots in that they would rather live in the country than in the town. Last year the population of one of the two towns on the island dropped from 800 to 700 because the price of farm products went up.

Police attribute her act to a lack of money. Lona H. H. Smith, Mrs. Josephine Catherine, 21, locked herself in her bed room and swallowed poison, according to police, after breaking down the door her husband summoned a physician, she was revived.

Flapperism In Lonely Iceland Surprises Gobs

REYKJAVIK, Iceland. — (By Associated Press) — The girls of Iceland may be separated from the rest of the world by hundreds of miles of Arctic sea, but fashions penetrate here almost as rapidly as news of the outside world. When Paris or London decrees a new style, whether in hairdressing, gowns or the handling of a feminine cigarette, it is sure to be adopted in Reykjavik before many weeks have passed. The old national costume, unchanged for hundreds of years, is still worn almost exclusively in the rural districts, but in the cities the girl who aspires to social standing keeps abreast of the times and sometimes even a bit ahead of them.

American sailors who visited Iceland in connection with the round-the-world airplane flight, were more than surprised when they found bobbed hair and other feminine fashions usually associated with Paris, London and New York. There was the customary display of silken hose, 'slinker' gowns, unmarked waistlines and wrap-around skirts, with a faint aroma of black narcissus or other Parisian perfumes hovering about the dainty persons of the wearers.

One difference the American sailors found, and it caused them to grin, sometimes rather wistfully. The Iceland girls did not flirt.

OPIUM TRAFFIC STUDIED

International Conference Begins Monday at Geneva

GENEVA — (By Associated Press) — Delegates will meet here Monday for the first of two international conferences which will attempt to solve the opium problem, and what is of more immediate interest to the American people, endeavor to set up machinery to check the illicit international traffic in habit-forming drugs.

The first conference will be restricted to those Far Eastern countries where opium smoking prevails and to countries that have possessions in the Far East where opium smoking is still permitted under the Hague convention of 1912. The particular object of this conference is to determine an estimate of the requirements of all these countries in raw opium destined for smoking so that the estimate may be passed along to the more general international conference, which will open at Geneva, Nov. 17.

The United States will send a delegation to the second conference, which will have representatives from virtually all governments of the world. This conference will aim to limit the production of opium and narcotic drugs to medical and scientific requirements. The present tendency is to set up an effective system of control rather than attempt to prevent production in excess of world requirements.

For Good Government

Indications are that Governor Vic Donahey will be returned to the office of chief executive of Ohio by the voters tomorrow. This is in line with the demand of the public for clean, efficient, honest government—government for all the people rather than for the chosen few.

While Donahey is being elected, he should be given a general assembly that will be friendly, that will help rather than hinder him in carrying out his policies of economy in state affairs. This he did not have in the last assembly. He was handicapped at every turn and after veto after veto, had the disagreeable experience of having many measures passed over his head.

This condition should not exist during the next two years. He ought to be given a friendly assembly for he has been tried and found honest, ever working for the interests of the people and always with a view of cutting down the constantly growing tax bill.

In this respect Allen-co voters can be of vast assistance. They can elect a man who will be friendly to the governor and at the same time exercise good judgment in respect to the welfare of his constituents. He is Clarence C. Miller, Democratic candidate for state representative.

Allen-co's representative did not represent the will of the people as was distinctly proven when in the last assembly he voted for Taft and Albaugh bills that would have added millions of dollars to the already heavy tax burden of the people. The governor vetoed the bills, they were passed over the veto and the people afterwards killed them by referendum so decisively that it was apparent that this county's representative did not vote the will of the people, but followed the clique opposition to the governor that was intended to embarrass him. Allen-co's representative also voted for the five-minute recess which was for the purpose of putting the chief executive "in the hole."

If the people of this county want continued representation of this kind; then they do not want to vote for Miller. But if they want their interests protected and the economy program of the governor continued without delay and confusion, then Miller is the logical candidate.

Vote Early Tomorrow

Voters will have no excuse for not exercising their right of franchise tomorrow in the general election when a president of the United States, a governor of Ohio and various judicial and county officers will be elected.

Never before in the history of the country has there been a more intensive campaign waged to get out the vote. Those who have the interest of their country at heart do not want a repetition of the 1920 election when about 27,000,000 persons voted and about 25,000,000 who were qualified to vote remained at home. This comes dangerously close to being government by minority rather than by majority and with three candidates for president in the field this year, an election might be made by a minority rather than a majority.

We hope voters of this vicinity will help boost Ohio's average in the election tomorrow over that of 1920 when it was about 62 per cent of the qualified voters. Voting is a duty every person should be proud and anxious to perform.

The polls will open at 5:30 a. m. and will close at 5:30 p. m. Those who possibly can should vote early to prevent a congestion late in the day when hundreds who do not have the opportunity to vote earlier will be at the polls.

Let nothing prevent you from voting tomorrow. Your vote is needed.

Beware Of Names

American people are being swindled out of millions of dollars each year thru the use of fake names or those so nearly like names of prominent persons that the average person takes it for granted they are the same.

In this respect we might recall that when Henry Ford, already established as one of the leading automobile manufacturers of the world, was ready to put his farm tractor on the market, he could not use his own name but was compelled to call it the "Fordson" because someone with the name Ford had organized a company or had permitted his name to be used on a tractor that was out or was to come out.

Investigation proved that the name was expected to lend strength to a stock selling proposition since the country had heard much about the machine that the auto king was to put on the market and of course anyone with money to invest would be glad to get some of Henry Ford's stock at a reasonable price.

If stock were to be offered in a new company with Charles Schwab, the steel magnate, as the head, it would be taken for granted that it was a bona fide proposition. But if the company were headed by a Charles K. Schwab, an entirely different person, it might influence many into investing in the belief that they were one and the same. That is the danger of the fake name proposition.

There are hundreds and thousands of "skin" games being worked today. There is no excuse for people of this vicinity being "taken in" on them. The Board of Commerce has a well equipped bureau for investigation and willingly gives advice free of charge on such propositions, and the various bankers of the community, trustworthy advisers on matters of investments, are ready and willing to give their expert opinion on investments.

Be safe! Investigate before you invest!

Paying Us

It is difficult to keep up with the times. Many still say: "Uncle Sam will never get back that money he lent to Europe during the war."

As a matter of fact, foreign governments have already paid back 300 million dollars of principal and 850 million dollars in the form of interest, according to the New York Trust Co.

Economists Miss It, Too

Speaking of things that excited the public only a few years ago: Going back about 10 years in newspaper files, we find experts of the N. Y. Produce Exchange claiming that the high price of meat was due to corn feeding our drunkards instead of our hogs. They figured that three-fifths of the corn crop in those days was consumed by distilleries and breweries.

"The liquor is gone, and meat is higher than ever. So much for the transitory opinions of 'expert economists.'"

HOW MANY ARCHES IN A FOOT?

In a recent discussion of the method of operating for hallux valgus, popularly called bunion, Dr. John L. Porter of Chicago, referred to the value of a dressing after the operation which includes a suitable pad and other provisions to preserve the transverse arch of the foot. Whereupon Dr. Melvin S. Henderson of Rochester, Minn., remarked that "all this talk about the transverse arch is more or less nonsense. It does not make much difference what one does to it. It exists only in anatomic drawings, and then just Dr. Porter still has his doubts. Dr. Albert H. Friberg of Cincinnati closed the discussion by saying bluntly: 'Dr. Porter errs in stating that he restores the transverse arch, because there is no such entity. The transverse arch is maintained wholly by muscle action. When the toes are well flexed there is a transverse arch, and when they are extended it disappears.'"

So there you are. Only one arch to a foot. This will be indignantly protested by the arch prop manufacturers and shoe dealers who pose as "foot specialists." Only one arch to a foot? Why, that would put an awful crimp in the business. Some of the arch prop makers insist on no less than four arches for every foot—happily Dr. Porter thought he was preserving—the posterior transverse arch (which the shoe clerk discovered after the anatomist had overlooked it for thousands of years)—that's the one you and I in our simple way have always known as the arch of the foot—and the external longitudinal arch (this is the very same thing, between you and me) but it kinda comes in handy to have an arch or two in reserve in case the first set of props fail to cure the sucker's neuritis. I shall never forget how surprised and abashed I felt when a glib shoe salesman who had taken the full course of six lessons by mail and received his "diploma" never thinking enlightened me on these heretofore undiscovered arches and showed me the correct prop for each several arch. I felt that I had wasted precious years studying anatomy and had learned less of it than this erudite shoe clerk had learned in six half hours.

Dr. Friberg asserting bluntly that there is no such entity as a transverse arch—and then proceeding to explain how the transverse arch is maintained by muscle action—reminds me of the man who tells me he knows there is no such thing as catarrh yet he wishes I would advise him what will cure it. But what Dr. Friberg meant, I think, was that the transverse arch, be it actual or hypothetical, need not worry us at all since it is not subject to the static troubles or deformities that so commonly afflict the longitudinal or main arch.

It would be dreadful to think that every step one takes involves the risk of breaking or straining four arches—as the arch proprietors proper, the manufacturers and sellers of such incubrances—would have us think or arch is plenty to worry about. Sufficient unto the day if we deal fairly and squarely with one arch in each foot. And that brings us to the question: How may the lone arch be properly propped? Which I shall try to answer soon, if the prop makers do not knock the props from under me before the time comes.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

DUTY

I am not bound by conscience to achieve High goals beyond my strength or gift of skill. To plant my banner on a high hill Than those whereon my neighbors proudly leave Their standards when the sun sinks down at eve; I hear no voice that urges great will Or bids me strive for larger conquests still And vaster fortunes, blind to all who grieve.

But something in my soul commands me thus: "Keep faith with God and man and play the friend! Heed not the cry of fame vociferous, But keep life's gentler manners to the end; Let others find in you those nobler Which self-sought glory very seldom brings."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough, cold, or matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Greeting November this the sun-shine like a day on the Venetian Islands of Biscayne Bay.

Down the paves. More motor displays. How they tempt one when the salesman raises the hood. Always open, too, nights when the proletariat which really has all the money, is strolling about. In one, a hide and groom, lingering longingly, but the young buck must buy it. Eventually, why not now? And he did deposit the first two dollars. Think it was Muggsy made the sale.

Saturday afternoon. The Saturday before election Politics discussed on the corner, old timers in from the townships. Not an exponent of Cal John or Bob under fifty. The new generation just doesn't. It is at the football game, or playing kelly pool in the tobacco and sarsaparilla dens.

Dined on what was to have been du roast bouef. Wonder what Clark Miller has against the shack. Can the bills have run more than the usual six months.

Spoke betimes, to M. Scott Taylor. Guess which one. Been around a long time. Here's Jimmie Dugan the old trans man, newly come from Columbus. And Tommy McLaughlin, the golfer.

wearing a brave new hat most becoming.

To the hospital, albeit missed the great surgeon. We had nobly when he bot his wife the prettiest bauble you ever did see. Along the High street to the lights of the motors. A city hall attaché says it can't be done. You are not by law able to sell bonds on a new Hall for commercial purposes. Howbeit, you can sell bonds for a new City Hall, and turn it to commercial purposes thereafter. Yet a bird whippers the Elks' Home, already built, would make a noble municipal edifice.

Streets, still paved in conflict and crowded. Women frantically shopping. Ad students conspicuous by their absence. Candidates button-holing.

Alfred Reck, the eminent scrivener, late secretary to His Majesty, Congressman Cabell. Back at a desk and will not return to Washington for Johnnie's three month stay. Glen Wallace, the county recorder I'll drop in at the Institute for a shave, my safety blades are all dull. So home, rather late, and straight away to bed.

"I can't get head or pig tail of the Chinese war," complained Late Bud, today. "The way I start this day right is I open your mail in the afternoon."

CORN FEATURES GAIN TRADE

Heavy Stocks Weaken Wheat Prices in Market

EMBARGO ON AT DULUTH

Export Demand Fails to Absorb Shipments

The heavy stocks of wheat in the terminal markets, together with lessened activity in the export demand, weakened the position of the wheat market materially during the week ending Nov. 3, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States Department of Agriculture. Reports of poor husking returns in sections of the corn belt had a strengthening influence on the corn market and advanced prices about five cents for the week. Oats prices held steady but the tone of the market was weak and movement and stocks continued heavy. Flax prices advanced slightly while rye and barley held steady.

The accumulation of about 80,000 bushels of wheat in the terminal markets has resulted in considerable congestion at most of the larger markets and it was again necessary to place an embargo against shipments to Duluth. It seems probable that if the heavy movement continues to Minneapolis an embargo might be placed against shipments to that market. Foreign buying has become of much smaller volume. Premiums for wheat for January to April shipments remained firm but sellers are hesitating to contract for such distant shipments.

PREMIUMS LOWER

Premiums for cash wheat worked lower. In the spring wheat markets the best milling grades were in good demand and while premiums for No. 2 hard winter wheat were quoted at the December price to 22 cents over, the bulk of sales were at prices ranging from December price to five cents over. The durum wheat market followed that of other spring wheat. Choice grades were firm and in good demand but poor grades were slow sale. No. 1 amber was quoted on Friday at Minneapolis at $1.42 to 1.53.

Hard winter wheat sold at unusually low prices compared with the futures, No. 1 and No. 2 hard winter selling at 2 to 2 1/2c under the December price, the largest discount in many years. Heavy stocks in elevators, however, prevent elevator interests from purchasing this wheat and taking advantage of the favorable prices. Mills are also buying sparingly because of the sluggish flour demand. Maximum mill stocks are being maintained, however. Soft winter wheat prices maintained their premiums over the hard winter but the market was also weak and demand was less active.

VALUES OF LAND ARE SET

Ford Condemnation Suits Are Heard by Court

OTTAWA — Values have been placed on three more tracts of land required by the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad in the program the railroad has undertaken to eliminate curves and dangerous crossings in Columbus Grove and eventually electrify the road. Value of a tract of land of approximately nine acres owned by A. S. Beckwith and included in the program was set at $225 for use of the land and $350 damages. John Buckingham was awarded $25 for the right-of-way thru his property and $1,250 damages. He owns two acres and the road is now planned to run within 100 feet of his residence and cut his two-acre truck patch into small pieces.

J. J. Kissell, owner of 71 acres of land, was given a verdict of $550 damages for the right-of-way thru his land and $4,600 damages for invading the tract. It is planned to hear another case in the condemnation proceeding which the road has instituted against owners of land needed in the reconstruction program, probably the latter part of the week, according to announcement by Judge H. M. Summers, of probate court, before whom the cases are tried.

A good mauling demand held the barley market fairly steady but feeding grades were dull. Shippers were unable to take much grain because of the limited storage space. Prices held at about last week's level.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Coolidge Will Make Last Appeal to the Voter

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The final day of the campaign found President Coolidge with only routine business on his program except for completion of the election eve address he will deliver over the radio tonight to the voters of the nation. This speech was expected to be devoted to an appeal to citizens to cast their ballots, and will be broadcast to practically every section of the country by an extensive radio system arranged by the Republican national committee. Telegrams continued to pour in to the White House today from farm organizations in response to the request of Coolidge for recommendations as to a successor to the late Secretary Wallace. He hopes from these names to be able to select a secretary who will bring him the confidence of a large majority of agriculturists.

FIRST FIGHT FATAL — Samuel Hassett, 40, died from injuries received in a fist fight. A man booked as Herbert B. Benoit, 21, has been charged with murder.

"Hell Maria" Is Not In Talks

EVANSTON, Ill. — (By Associated Press) — Charles G. Dawes made something over a hundred speeches in his campaign as Republican nominee for vice president without a single "Hell Maria," the phrase with which he broke into print and into national prominence in 1919 when he returned from France after the World War. A backward look today over Mr. Dawes' campaign utterances showed he had left a collection of such terms as "bee-wit," politicians, "political demagogues" and "cowardly trimmings," time-serving politicians from Wyoming to Maine. But the "Hell Maria" which some of his audiences obviously waited never came for them.

SCALE UNCHANGED — Under an agreement reached by the Cincinnati Boot and Shoe Workers the wage scale will remain the same next year as last. Workers had asked an increase but it was said business conditions were such that the old rate of wages would be acceptable for another year.

KILLED BY AUTO — Mrs. Henry Fox, 65, of near Miamisburg, was killed when she was struck by an automobile.

FREY TO BE SPEAKER AT DELAWARE MEETING

OTTAWA — Robert F. Frey, of Ottawa, lieutenant governor of Ohio, will attend the reunion and home-coming of former students of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware on next Saturday. At the dinner of Ohio Wesleyan university here last Friday night many persons signified their intention of attending the home-coming from Putnam-co.

At the Orpheum

Presentation of "The Balloon Girl" by "Red" Mack's Ragtime Serenaders at the New Orpheum Theatre Sunday proved to be most entertaining. This production can be classed as a dramatic musical comedy as it is a three act comedy drama interspersed with musical numbers between the acts.

Miss Ruth King, the featured member of the company, is a delightful comedienne and pleased every audience. Bonnie Kirkland as the lookout for bank robbers and with Johnny Knott, the town clown, provided some very good comedy.

At the Quilna

William de Mille's new picture, "The Fast Set," had its first local showing at the Quilna Sunday and altho it will prove entertaining to a majority of film fans it falls short of the high standard set by this famous producer.

The story, which was adapted from the stage play, "Spring Cleaning" presents a new way of handling an old theme that revolves around the tinsel triangle. It is a comedy of smart society life and the action is motivated by a fine man who resorts to a clever and astonishing method of saving his wife from undesirable friends and of curing her infatuation for a "great lover."

Adolphe Menjou, as the "great lover," carries away the histrionic honors. Betty Compton, as the wife, gives a good performance and Elliott Dexter is well cast as the husband. Zasu Pitts furnishes most of the comedy situations.

Quilna News and an Accep Fabrics are added features on the bill.

MANY VISITORS AT PARKS

More Than 1,500,000 Persons at National Reserves

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — The lure of America's national parks and monuments attracted more than 1,500,000 people during the 1934 season, according to the Interior Department. By virtue of the fact that the attendance at parks this year was 160,000 in excess of last year, the Department believes that national reservations are steadily growing in popularity.

This new high in visitors was attained even though there was a decided dropping off in two California parks due to outbreaks of hoof and mouth disease, and reports of numerous forest fires which deterred many people from going to various other parks.

Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado, with a visiting list of 224,211 people, headed the list as it did last year. Hot Springs, Ark., was next, with 164,173 visitors, and Mount Rainier, Wash., was a close third, with 161,483. Four other parks — Yellowstone, Yosemite, Grand Canyon, and Platt, Okla. — each were viewed by more than six hundred thousand visitors, and six of the parks showed a travel increase of 25 per cent or more.

National monuments drawing the greatest number of visitors were Muir Woods, Cal., with an attendance of 92,391; Petrified Forest, Ariz., with 42,751, and Scott Bluffs, Neb., with 20,000.

Capulin Mountain, N. Mex., showed the largest increase, jumping from 1,000 in 1933, to 7,000 this past year, while the Devil's Tower, Wyo., had 7,800 this year against 3,000 last.

The Natural Bridges, Utah, drew 62 visitors. Considering that

PROMINENT GERMAN EDITOR ENDS LIFE

ST LOUIS — Hans Mackel, prominent German language editor and president of the corporation publishing the Westliche Post was found dead in the kitchen of his home late last night by his wife as she returned from a theatre. According to the police report his head was resting on an open jet of the gas range.

A note stating "I cannot stand the strain any longer," was found on the wall. With this remark his friends believed, he referred to the criticism he was said to have incurred for his opposition to the Stueben Society, a national organization of German-Americans, during the political campaign. Hockel was an ardent supporter of President Coolidge.
